Prof. Eric TSUI

Professor, Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering,
The Hong Kong Polytechnic University

Vice President, the Hong Kong Knowledge Management
Society

Biography

Eric Tsui had spent 16 years in industry with Computer Sciences Corporation (CSC) in Australia taking on various capacities including Chief Research Officer and Innovation Manager. During this period, he has made significant contributions to the company's expert systems products, applied research and innovation programmes.

In 2002, he was appointed Professor of Knowledge Management at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University under the President's Distinguished Professionals Scheme; he joined the university full time in 2005. His speciality areas are Knowledge technologies including Search Engines, Portals, Personal Knowledge Management, Personal Learning Environments, and Cloud services.

A Vice President of the Hong Kong Knowledge Management Society, he is also honorary advisor to the Hong Kong Police College and the Efficiency Unit, and a member of the IT Technical Advisory Sub-Committee of the Hospital Authority in the HKSARG. In 2014, he received the Knowledge Management Leadership Award conferred by the Global KM Congress and a Shortlisted Finalist of UGC Teaching Award in Hong Kong and in 2015, he further received the Knowledge Management and Intellectual Capital Excellence Award from ACPI and a Golden Winner in the Region Asia category of the Wharton QS Stars Reimagine Education Award.

Title

PolyU's MOOC Journey

Abstract

This talk will summarise the development of MOOCs (Massive Open Online Courses) at PolyU. Three courses have been launched on MIT's edX platform in 2015. We shall discuss the learning experience, the challenges and outline ways to sustain and leverage on MOOCs to enhance the quality of on campus programs and students' learning outcomes.